AN EFFORT TO BREAK UP THE CABINET -Under this head a disputch from Washington

A determined effort is being made to oust Messrs. Blair and Bates from the cabinet. The Capt. Similivant almost solitary and alone, more radical of the dominant party are determore radical of the dominant party are detertive councils is damaging to the prospects of the ticket, especially to Western States. Mr. incoln's aversion to any change in his cabinet also Major Butto, of the Petersburg city battalturing his present term of office is well known; but it is doubtful whether he will be able to stand the pressure which is being brought to ear against these gentlemen.

Another-dispatch from Washington says: The House was engaged all day on contested ection cases. Frank Blair received his quieus, and his contestant was declared entitled to e seat. He had no advocates and defenders smong the Republicans, his friends belonging exclusively to the opposition. The exclusion of and his own exclusion from Congress by Reublican votes, indicates that he has been formally read out of the Republican party.

from the Richmond Sentinel. The Navy Department has received a very teresting dispatch from Capt R. Sammes, of the Confederate States steamer Alabama. It is dated Table Bay, March 21, and gives an account of the operations of the steamer subsequent her departure from Singapore, on the 4 h of December last. We extract the following, which will be gratifying to all who desire an authent account of the cruisings of our heroes of the

From Singapore, which is at the southern extramity of the peninsula of Malacea, the Alabama sailed northwest through the straits of Malacea, thence across the hay of Bengal, and thence to Cape Town by way of Menambique

On her first day's run she overhauled the Yankse ship Texan Star, but then sailing under the assumed name of "Martaban," and under English colors and register. The oners were landed at a town on the coust Light winds made a slow sail thougs to Mo sambique channel, where the Alabama arrived about the middle of Pobruary. Capt Semmes stopped at an island there for six days, to refresh his men, and give them a run on shore. Sailing thence, on the 11th of March he sighted the Cape of Good Heps; and after diligently cruising in the neighborhood until the 200 without seeing an enemy's ship, he steamed into port at Cape Town. It would seem remarkable hat not a Yankee vessel was seen rounding the Cape, although Capt. Semmes kept himself in the usual track of commerce, and overhauled a large number of steutral vessels. The Yankees have either abandoned those seas, or seek eccentric courses, and steer wide of the Capo. The enemy has no war vessels at the Cape, and only one, the Mohican, has visited Cape
